1st. About the same proposition true of farmers' holdings. Recent fancy prices for oats failed to bring liberal movement, owing to low supplies. This market is promised only 107 cars for the first day of next reck. The season is so late that the new crop cannot be marketed in July. We anticipate an early return of strength in all months in Oats, and would be pleased to execute orders for those who may feel that our judgment is right, as it has been in the past.

To the Public: Twelve years ago I contracted several bad colds at different times and throat, which left head, nose and totally almost and with an awful noise constantly in my head, which nearly drove me frantic. I tried many reatments of different kinds but never received any benefit, and the last five years my case has been pronounced incurable, and the best doctors said I would never hear again. At times I could hear the vetices of people talking, but was unable to make out what they said. I had decided that I would never try again to be cured, as I had spent so much and never received the least bit of benefit that I was shamed to ask my husband to pay any more money on my hearing. But when I talked with people who had been cured by the Boy Phenomenon thought I would try once more, so, without any faith, and with very little hope, I took treatment, although against the advice of my friends, sued to Joseph L.
